LOUISA FARMER MAKES PART-TIME PAY WELL

Louisa.- A Louisa county man who farms only part-time is demonstrating that good judgment, careful planning, and heavy fertilization bring good returns, according to T. C. Andrews, county agent.

B. A. Hasher ,of Route 5, Louisa, owns a farm of 103 acres, of which 40 are in crops and 35 in permanent pasture. His sales amount to $3,500 to $3,700 a year. For some operations, this would be called full-time; but about three years ago, Mr. Hasher figured out that he could do it on half-time, if he managed well, so he found a job which employs him about half-time.

Cropland on the Hasher farm is in wheat ,sun-cured tobacco, clover and grasses and alfalfa. Pastures, seeded to tall grasses and ladino clover, have been fertilized so well that the 35 acres carry 27 head of Hereford cattle. Mr .Hasher watches the condition of his pastures carefully, and top-dresses regularly with a fertilizer mixture that will keep the legume-grass combination well-balanced.

His sun-cured tobacco allotment of 2.2 acres is grown in a 3-year rotation of tobacco, wheat, and mixed hay. During the three years, each acre gets a ton of commercial fertilizer and, in the year for tobacco, one or two tons of manure per acre. From Mr .Hasher's accurate records, Andrews says, you find that his tobacco crop in 1958 required less than 500 hours work and it brought $1,200.

Agent Andrews observes that off-farm employment is not easy to find in Louisa but some opportunities, as Mr. Hasher has found, are available. He also notes that Mr. Hasher's income from farming alone is one that should inspire others to combine technical information with good management.

QUESTIONS OF THE WEEK

(Editor's note: Here are the questions asked most frequently by Virginia farmers during the past week, as reported by county agricultural agents. Staff members of the VPI Agricultural Extension Service and/or Experiment Station supply the answers).

Q. How does Kenland clover and orchard grass compare in yield and cost of production with alfalfa?

Health and Beauty

We have just learned of a wonderful new weight reduction diet. You lose weight slowly but surely and look and feel delightful when you are on it.

It is necessary to indulge in one half-hour of mild exercise each day. This may be a brisk walk, indoor exercise for spot reducing, or the use of one of the new electric or manual devices to aid spot reducing.

You start the day with a delicious ,satisfying breakfast of eggs scrambled in one-half pat of butter, two tablespoons of plain cottage cheese, and one slice of dry toast, coffee with milk, and artificial sweetener.

Mid-morning you may have an apple, one-half grapefruit or one orange. These treats may be rotated each day.

Lunch is made up of 1-2 lb. of ground round steak from which all the fat was removed before grounding. To the meat add a small amount of salt and pepper ,and garlic, if desired, and one teaspoon of wheat germ, a small glass of skim milk and green vegetable cooked in lightly salted water and seasoned with one-half pat of butter—or—a tossed salad with low-calorie dressing. A cup of coffee with skim talik and an artificial sweet for dessert.

Dinner should feature a low-fat meat broiled in not more than one pat of butter or broiled in salted water. Charcoal cooking is perfect for this diet, as the charcoal imparts a delivious flavor without added calories.

With the 1-2 lb. of lean meat of your choice serve a tossed salad with low-calorie dressing (about a cup-and-a-half of salad), 1-2 baked potato or one whole new potato seasoned with salt and pepper.

For dessert have one-half cup fresh or canned fruit (with all juice, pouired off) and coffee.

Before retiring you are allowed a small glass of fruit juice or skim milk, when you deem it necessary.

Between meal snacks are forbidden ,as are all alcoholic drinks. Suggested is one multi-purpose vitamin pill each day.

As we stated at the start of this column, results are not seen overnight. This is a diet designed to improve you rhealth as well as your figure. After the desired weight loss you may want to add a little more fat and starch, even a dessert now and again, but keep the basic eating habits intact.
